Denver, Colorado 80202

216 units: 202 studios with kitchenettes and 14 one-bedroom apartments

Following extensive renovation and expansion that also preserved a smaller, dedicated space for the YMCA's fitness program, the property now provides homes for 216 households. This includes those who are homeless and at-risk of homelessness, as well as veterans and individuals with chronic mental illness and substance treatment needs. It is the primary site for the Coalition's highly successful Housing First program. Civic Center Apartments is also an option for low-income workers in downtown Denver who could not otherwise afford to live in the area. In 2008, Renaissance at Civic Center Apartments received the 2008 Fannie Mae Foundation Maxwell Award of Excellence and the 2008 MetLife Foundation First Place Award for Excellence in Affordable Housing. In 2004, the property received the Colorado Housing NOW! Eagle Award for Creating Affordable Housing in Downtown Denver, the Downtown Denver Partnership's Celebration of Achievement Award, and the Community Preservation Award from Historic Denver Inc.

Housing First Works

Housing First is a programmatic approach designed to help chronically homeless individuals move more quickly off the streets or out of the shelter system. Housing First includes crisis intervention, rapid access to housing, and follow-up case management and support services to prevent the reoccurrence of homelessness. What differentiates a Housing First approach from traditional emergency shelter or transitional housing models is the immediate and primary focus on helping homeless people quickly access and then sustain housing. Housing First is designed to respond to the most acute need of chronically homeless individuals with disabilities – housing – and through the provision of housing, to respond to the other services the participant may need to maintain that housing and to improve their level of health and functioning.

Social service and emergency related costs are reduced as fewer people live in homelessness, or are at-risk of becoming homeless. The Coalition reports total emergency cost savings averaging $31,545 per participant. Among program participants, 84 percent fewer detox visits, 76 percent fewer days in jail, 34 percent fewer emergency room visits, 34 percent fewer outpatient hospital visits, 66 percent fewer inpatient hospital days and 100 percent fewer shelter stays were realized.
