

STOUT STREET RECUPERATIVE CARE CENTER

The Stout Street Recuperative Care Center, located in downtown Denver, is a facility for people to stay for several weeks while healing from a sickness or injury. The Recuperative Care Center provides a recovery space for people who are well enough to be released from the hospital, but still need some time to heal or stabilize a medical issue.

For people who are released from the hospital to a shelter or to their tents on the street, it can be very hard to stay healthy in the important time after hospitalization. It is difficult to keep wounds clean, take necessary medications, and feel like you can concentrate on your recovery when you don't feel fully better after being at the hospital.

The Stout Street Recuperative Care Center, managed by the Colorado Coalition for the Homeless, who also manage the Stout Street Health Center, has 70 beds for people who need assistance. We will provide a safe, dignified, and quality space for you to heal and stabilize.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

What will I need to do during my stay?

Everyone is required to meet daily (sometimes every other day) with their medical team. Everyone also meets with their case manager and behavioral health weekly.

Am I able to come and go from the facility?

Residents are able to leave for medical appointments, certain case management needs, and 1-2 times per week for personal reasons. While we are not a "locked-in" facility, if you leave for a reason that isn't planned for and approved by your care team, you cannot continue to access the program after that. Visitors are not allowed, items may be dropped off at the front with staff.

Can I smoke cigarettes?

Yes! We have a large outdoor patio that is open from 6am to 10pm. We do not allow smoking of non-nicotine products.

Where will I eat and sleep?

There is a large dining room serving three meals per day plus snacks. Rooms are semi-private and shared with other residents. Everyone has a locker to lock belongings.

What will I do for fun?

We have multiple TV rooms that are stocked with books, games, and puzzles (even a foosball table). There are also multiple groups you can attend, such as art classes, movie nights, and classes on practical skills like healthcare and job training.

Where will I go once I complete my stay in the program?

Most people return to where they were before being admitted into the program or before being in the hospital, such as to a shelter. Your case manager will help you prepare for this, and you can continue meeting with case managers after your stay to keep working toward housing.

What can and can't I bring?

You can bring two bags of belongings with you, each about the size of a carry-on duffel bag. Illegal drugs, alcohol and weapons are not permitted, but we can secure them safely while you are with us. Any unauthorized belongings will be returned to you at the end of your stay.

What are other expectations I should be aware of?

We expect all residents to be respectful to fellow residents, staff members, and the facility. We have zero tolerance for violence against others, threats of violence and racial or derogatory words.
